

Uses

ID	1,375
Crop ID	Wild Thyme
Part	Whole
Use Category	Industrial
Notes	In perfumery, oil of Serpolet (so it's commonly named) is chiefly used for soap. The flowering tops, macerated for 24 hours or so in salt and water, are made into a perfumed water. It is much picked for the extraction of its essential oil and when distilled, 100 kilos of dried material yield about 150 grams of essence (about 6 OZ.). The flowering tops, macerated for 24 hours or so in salt and water, are made into a perfumed water.
Metadata ID	8,443