

Uses

ID	431
Crop ID	Squirting Cucumber
Part	Fruit
Use Category	Medicinal
Notes	The squirting cucumber has been used as a medicinal plant for over 2,000 years, though it has a very violent effect upon the body and currently has little use in modern herbalism. Medicinally, the plant is mostly known for its high content of cucurbitacins, which can provide the species with various biological activities.
Metadata ID	7,646