

Antinutrient & Toxicity

Antinutrient and Toxicity ID	131
Crop ID	Star Gooseberry
Part	Leaf
Reported Factor	Alkaloid papaverine
Effect	Excessive consumption of the leaf causes dizziness, drowsiness, constipation. Papaverine in uncooked sauropus affects vasodilation, may cause bronchiolitis obliterans, a progressive respiratory distress disease. the harmful effect is due to consumption of large quantities of uncooked leaves (4.5 kg) and drinking raw juice rather than stir-fried or boiled leaves.
Cause Toxicity	false
Cause Allergic Reaction	false
Reduction Method	NULL
Notes	NULL
Metadata Id	8,577