

Antinutrient & Toxicity

Antinutrient and Toxicity ID	210
Crop ID	Cole's Wattle
Part	Seed
Reported Factor	Djenkolic acid
Effect	Symptoms seem to be related to the precipitation and crystallisation of the compound within the urinary system, and include acute renal failure, hematuria, painful loins, nausea, vomiting and abdominal pain.
Cause Toxicity	false
Cause Allergic Reaction	false
Reduction Method	NULL
Notes	Djenkolic acid is a toxic amino acid that is best known as the apparent cause of 'djenkolism', an acute illness that can occur following the consumption of djenkol beans (Archidendron pauciflorum)
Metadata Id	8,919